Introduction

This year, 1959, marks the closing of ten very successful and prosperous years in the history of St. Anthony of Padua Minor Seminary and Preparatory School. As a fitting tribute to the 10th anniversary, the class of 1959 uses boarding school life for its theme.

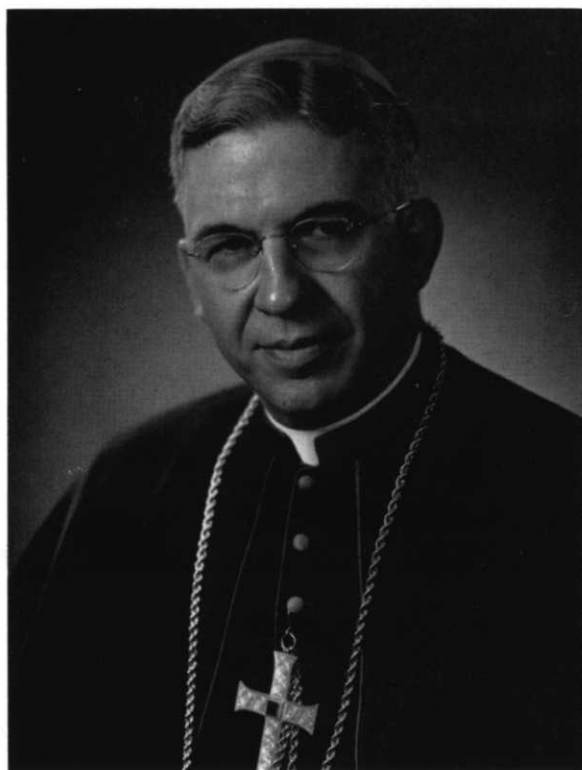

As you, the reader, turn the pages of this book a picture story which is an attempt to explain the daily life of boarding school students unfolds. The development of the theme treats the three parts of the day — Morning, Noon, and Evening. Within these three divisions, Paduan life is clearly and positively shown by its routine, societies, and extra curricular activities. The fruits of ten years of improvement, education, and development of students have truly blossomed forth.

REV. HYACINTH KULINSKI, OFM

After a long stay at St. Bona's in Wisconsin, Father became Prefect of Students in 1957. Besides teaching Latin, Father Hyacinth holds the posts of Registrar and Vice Rector. He is also the moderator of the Senior class.

REV. BERTRAND BLUMA, OFM

A new-comer, Father Bertrand is Vice Prefect of Students, teaches Freshman and Junior English, and is sponsor of the Padua Chapter of the National Honor Society. Father will begin his studies for an M.A. in English at St. Bonaventure University in Olean, N. Y. this summer.

REV. ROLAND JASKULSKI, OFM

Father Roland has held the office of Bursar since he arrived here in 1956. Besides teaching Social Studies (History), he heads the School's Sodality. Father is also working toward an M.A. in History at St. Bonaventure U.

REV. HENRY NAPARLA, OFM

Here since 1949, Father Henry is one of the pioneer professors at Padua. Father has held various administrative positions in the last ten years. He is presently teaching French and Polish, managing the Book Store, moderating the Alumni Association, and is Vice Guardian of the Monastery.

REV. ERIC SKALSKI, OFM

Father Eric came to us in the fall of 1957 from our sister school, St. Bona's, Sturtevant. Besides teaching English Father consumes much of his time with the Paduan, the Siquaeris, the Dramatic Club, and a bit of golf. He is well noted for the many fine productions he has staged.

REV. AUSTIN LEWINSKI, OFM

Ever since he has been at Padua, Father Austin's name has been associated with the library; he has been Faculty Librarian for four years. Father is the Sophomore class moderator, teaches Latin, and is to receive his M.A. in Ancient Classics this summer.

REV. ALBIN MIKLASZEWSKI, OFM

In his nine years at Padua, Father Albin's interest in science has never diminished. He is noted for his extensive treatment of General Science and Biology and is widely read in scientific data. Like many of the other professors, Father is striving for a Master of Science Degree.

REV. EMIL RAKOWSKI, OFM

Father Emil has always had an interest and talent in sports, math and science. This can be readily seen for Father teaches Physics, Intermediate Algebra, and Trigonometry, holds the position of Athletic Director, coaching various sports, and will receive a degree in Physical Education this year at Ithaca College.

REV. DOMINIC TURAJSKI, OFM

Twenty-six years a priest, Father Dominic is as active as ever. Before his transfer four years ago to Padua, he was Chaplain at the Felician Sisters' Convent in Lodi, N. J. Previous to that, Father has some twenty odd years of work in the province to his credit. He presently is Spiritual Director, teaches Polish, and is prefect of the Third Order.

REV. ANTONINE BACHOWSKI, OFM

This is Father's first year at Padua. His duties consist of teaching Religion and Social Studies and moderating the Junior Class. One usually finds Father Antonine up in the gym after supper challenging all comers in ping pong.

REV. XAVIER WILK, OFM

A new arrival to the Faculty, Father Xavier has quite a full schedule: teaching Algebra and Religion, Senior Group Guidance, and re-establishing the SSV for the Freshman and Sophomore classes. Father plans to take courses at St. Bonaventure U. this summer, leading to an M.A. in Education.

MR. JOSEPH LEMAK

Mr. Lemak joined the faculty in the fall of '57. As Physical Education Instructor, Coach Lemak has transferred to us many practical skills: marching, square dancing, etc. Mr. Lemak also instructs and coaches at Watkins High in town and at St. John's Seminary nearby.

THE GRADUATES

The future is ahead, yet can they see it? They search, but all they find is haze. Their eyes ache from the strain of constant peering. Yet, the more they ponder and the more they strive, all the more does the class of '59 realize that the future is what they make of it.

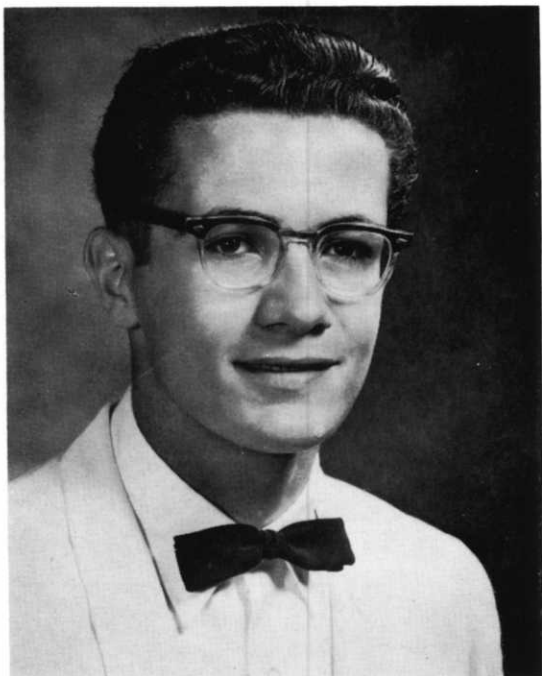

Twenty-five young men leave their alma mater to face the future with the knowledge, wisdom, and experience gained through years of study, hardship, prayer, trial, good times, and trust. Old friends are left and memories deeply cherished. The Seniors of '59 are graduated. There is joy; there is nostalgia. Here at last is the long awaited and fruitful end of toil and labor, but here also begins the longing for years gone by. Again as Padua sees another class depart, and the graduates of 1959 leave in a body, the reminiscence of four unforgettable years forever remains.

September of 1955 found sixty-five new-comers adapting themselves to their home away from home. Initiation, orientation, and the hodge-podge of high school life added to their bewilderment. As class moderator, Fr. Terrence Pinkowski, OFM accompanied the Freshmen through the highs and lows of that first year.

The following autumn, the class of '59 advanced a notch in high school life—to Sophomores. With the original number diminishing, fifty students began an active year. While Fr. Terrence went on to higher studies, Fr. Austin Lewinski, OFM assumed the task of guiding the class. The class motto—"Qui non proficit, deficit." (He who does not go forward, falls behind.)—facilitated the initiative to strive forward. Blue and gold, chosen as the official colors, served as a constant reminder of the Blessed Virgin. St. John Capistran became the class patron.

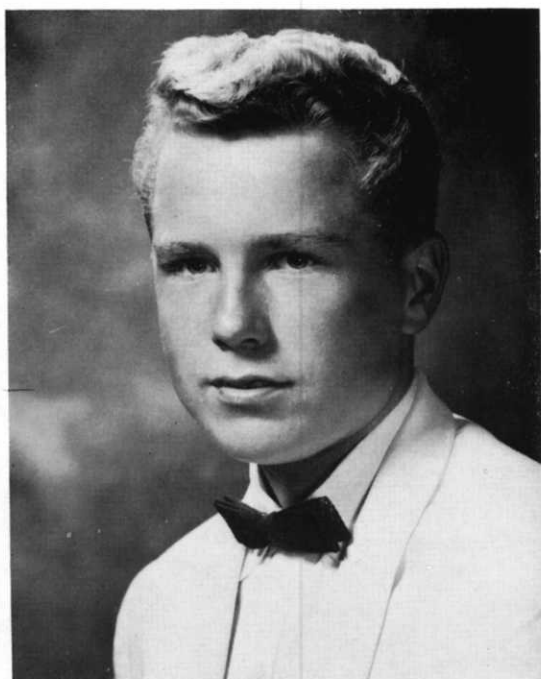

As Juniors, the class of '59 reached the gates of maturity and felt the prestige of being upper classmen. The returning Fr. Terrence found only twenty-six of the original sixty-five ready to pursue toward greater heights. The long awaited class rings, worn with an air of distinction, became the pride of every Junior.

Finally the Senior year, one of maturity, responsibility, and leadership. Again Fr. Terrence was called away, this time to the Philippines as a missionary. Upon his departure early in the year, Fr. Hyacinth Kulinski, OFM acted as faculty adviser for the Seniors. During the ten months which have quickly glided by, the burden of responsibility, the value of dependability, and the necessity of striving for success in life coincided to lay the foundations of adulthood in twenty-five young men. Now at graduation, four years of development have led to maturity. The class of '59 is prepared to face the future.

PRESIDENT

LOUIS TARANTELLI "Louie", the man with the many names could always be depended on to do a fine job on anything he was assigned to do. This was noticeable in the fine job he performed in guiding our class in our Senior year and in his excellent job as business manager for the "Siquaeris". Acting in most clubs, he also found time for sports, winning his letter in baseball.

VICE PRESIDENT

FRANCIS USS Not lacking in ability nor in character Frankie was well liked by all his classmates. He belonged to many organizations and was Prefect of the Sodality. He actively participated in sports and won varsity letters for soccer and baseball. A member of the "Siquaeris" staff, he was in charge of developing photographs. In spite of all his extra-curricular activities he found time for his studies and was a member of the National Honor Society.

SECRETARY

RONALD REGULA A popular fellow with his classmates, "Reggie" was one of the most active students on the campus. He belonged to many societies and served as head of the gym staff. He won his letter in JV baseball; was manager of our soccer and basketball teams; and was a member of the gymnastic team. As sports editor of the "Paduan" and the "Siquaeris" he won a certificate of merit for column writing from the "New York Times". A very friendly and personable fellow, he will undoubtedly be remembered for his willingness to help others out.

TREASURER

EDWARD WENDOLOWSKI "Wendy", the fellow who was always combing his hair had the wonderful knack of getting along well with everyone. An active sports fan he was always willing to play softball or football. He also participated actively in all social functions and belonged to a few societies. He acted as circulation manager for the "Paduan" and the credit for designing the cover of the Yearbook goes to him.

CHARLES BODZIAK Known as "Chuck" to most of his classmates, he was regarded by them as being the official poet of Padua. His poetry appeared in a few issues of the Paduan and won for him a certificate of merit from the "New York Times". Aside from writing poetry, he belonged to many clubs and often found time to take an active interest in athletics.

O. ROBERT BOEHM Possessing a likeable personality and a fine habit of getting along with others, "Otto" had many close friends. He belonged to most of the organizations at Padua and also participated actively in the intramural sports program. However, he devoted most of his time to his hobby of photography. He served as staff photographer for "The Paduan", and most of the credit for the fine pictures in this issue of the "Siquaeris" goes to him.

JOSEPH DOMBKOWSKI "Dimby" to his friends, he will always be remembered by the Seniors as having a good sense of humor and a pleasing personality. Although he did not participate too actively in the intramural sports program, he did devote most of his time to the various organizations and clubs. As co-editor of "The Paduan", he wrote many stirring editorials; he also was a member of the "Siquaeris" staff.

JOHN GOLUBOVICH Though he did not participate much in any of the social organizations, "Gooney", as he was called by his classmates, took an active part in the intramural sports program. Whenever he wasn't playing soccer, basketball, or baseball, he could be found in his room keeping up with the latest in "Rock n' Roll".

ROBERT GONDEK Whenever Bob was around there never was a dull time. His fine sense of humor and uncanny wit often had his classmates rolling with laughter. No social function was complete without him. He had an active interest in sports and could always be counted on to help out when needed. No doubt, his pleasing personality and sense of humor will always be remembered by his classmates.

REGIS KOBUS An honor student for most of his stay at Padua, "King Kobus" once served as vice president of the National Honor Society. Although he belonged to many of Padua's societies, he was a member of the "Siquaeris" staff and served as sports editor of "The Paduan". He most probably will be remembered by his classmates as well as the other students for his fine acting as a member of the Padua Dramatic Club.

FELIX KOPYCINSKI He was elected vice president of the class during our Junior year. Participating in all club activities and taking an active interest in sports, he won a varsity letter for his fine performance as right wing on the soccer team. In his memories of his fellow classmates, Felix will be remembered as one who willingly cooperated with everyone.

THADDEUS KRZCIUK During his four year stay at Padua, Ted will be remembered by his classmates as being the quiet type of student. He served as class treasurer in our Sophomore year and was a very active member of the Future Priest Club. Diligent and studious, Ted took an active interest in sports. He won a junior varsity letter in baseball and a varsity letter in soccer for his outstanding performances as goalie for two years.

RICHARD MAJKA Being active in sports, "Mike" was a coach on the varsity baseball team for two years. He was also very instrumental in keeping the athletic field in tip-top shape for all events. He was a good natured fellow and demonstrated his ability for handling others in his job as Freshman corridor prefect. Undoubtedly he will be remembered by his classmates for his generosity and willingness to help others.

ANTHONY MANGINI "The Paduan" and the "Siquaeris" saw much of Mange's superb feature writing, since he was feature editor on both staffs. He was an active participant in most societies and took an enthusiastic interest in sports, especially in the gymnastic team. Realizing that studies were of the utmost importance, he did not neglect his. He was an above average student and was secretary of the National Honor Society. His agility in playing the piano made him a must at all social functions.

JOHN MIKALAUSKAS Like the rest of his classmates John spent four years here at Padua. Well liked by his fellow classmates his efforts as supply room manager made our stay here a pleasing and comfortable one. Despite the enormity of his various jobs the "Kapitan" found time to belong to a few clubs and to participate in the intramural sports program.

HARRY PINOLA Noted for his fine sense of humor and his practical jokes, Harry is a true jester. Although he had his moments of fun, he realized the importance of studies and has always done well in them. He was active in societies and clubs and spent two years as laundry room manager. He also served as news editor of "The Paduan" and was a member of the "Siquaeris" staff. Unable to participate actively in athletics, he was Padua's loudest and most ardent fan. Harry always had an interest in books and spent most of his free time reading.

ADAM PROCHASKI Although Adam joined the class in the Junior year, he soon won the respect and friendship of his fellow classmates. His love of the outdoors often found him organizing hikes and field trips, whenever possible. One of the tallest members of the class he delighted in playing basketball. Though he was not a member of many societies, Adam took an active part in the Future Priest Club and the Sodality.

RUSSELL RUDZWICK "Rodney" will always be remembered for the fine job he did as class president in our Sophomore year. Although he did not participate in any varsity sport, he could always be counted on for intramurals. Active in many societies, especially the Explorers, "Rodney" was head librarian for a year. Under his guidance the library took on a new look.

CHESTER SEK An avid sports fan "Zippy" took part in many athletic events, winning his varsity letter in soccer and serving as coach on the baseball team. He also did a fine job as manager of the intramural sports program and as the projection room manager for two years. "Zip", active in many societies, still found time for his studies and had an active role in dramatic activities at the school.

JOSEPH STRYCHASZ Despite the fact that "Hatch", as he was called by his classmates, was burdened with heavy duties as head sacristan, he found time to belong to a few clubs and to serve as Prefect of the Third Order. He regularly participated in the intramural sports program; was a member of the "Siquaeris" staff; and was assistant news editor for the "Paduan". His pleasing personality claimed him many friends.

ROBERT SWILLO "Bert" was a good natured fellow and active in many societies, but was best known for his ability in playing the piano. Much of our free time was spent listening to his renditions on the piano. Not too active in sports, he excelled in his studies and was one of the top students in the class. He had a knack for getting along with everyone and his wonderful personality claimed him many lasting friends.

JOSEPH SZCZESNIAKOWSKI A good athlete, Joe is best known for his fine performances as fullback for four years on the soccer team. He had the additional responsibility of being a Freshman corridor prefect and the grueling task of kitchen supervisor. Active in intramurals when he wasn't playing soccer, he also found time to participate in Padua's many social activities and organizations. Joe was also a member of the gymnastics team in his Junior year.

JOHN A. TRELA Active in many societies, John turned in a fine job as co-editor of "The Paduan" and as editor-in-chief of the "Siquaeris". He also took an active interest in sports and won his letter in baseball in his Sophomore year. An honor student throughout his stay at Padua, John was class secretary in his Freshman year, class president in his Junior year, and was vice president of the Honor Society in his Senior year. He was also an active member of the Third Order and Sodality. His willingness to help others and his exceptional personality drew many friends to him.

ANTHONY TULKO "Tut" Tulko will be remembered by his classmates for his quick wit and clever sayings. Very active in sports he won a junior varsity letter in baseball and basketball, and two varsity letters for basketball. Though he was active in sports and in most of Padua's clubs, he did not neglect his studies since he was a member of the National Honor Society.

RICHARD USS Turning in a fine performance as halfback on the varsity soccer team he won three letters and was captain of the team. Richie also served as class treasurer in our Freshman year. Slow to make friends, once he did, he never let them down. He was active in very many societies and surely will be remembered for his invigorating enthusiasm in physics and mathematics.

Junior Class

Indeed quite a versatile class, the Juniors have made their influence felt in many different quarters. The officers (John Sowa, president; Kenneth Joswick, vice president; Thomas Wojslawowicz, secretary; and Gerald Giemza, treasurer) with the guidance and help of Father Antonine comprise the backbone of the class of 1960.

Their talent must not be overlooked, in fact, it is quite difficult to surpass. They excelled in Varsity Basketball where they proved their potential quality in many well played games. Not only in basketball have they shown talent, but they also have proven themselves in other sports: Soccer, Baseball, Gymnastics. Their adeptness in Ping-pong, Shuffleboard, Pool, etc. is self evident. As showmen and musicians they entertained at Youth County and at the Mother's Day Activities.

Throughout the year, the Juniors were responsible for practically all the work connected with the banquets. The preparation of the Dining Hall and catering was the year's project. During the Seniors' absence, the Juniors took over their tasks and responsibilities — being prefects, continuing the nightly "clean up" of the building, and volunteering at odd jobs. With an eye toward the future, they have increased their treasury so as to meet the next school year with financial stability.

The Juniors have readily and successfully prepared themselves for what is their next year as Seniors. Here is a class as forceful as its colors — Crimson and Gold — with a motto of might: 'Ad Jesum per Mariam'.

Sophomore Class

Every Sophomore class is unique, namely because every Sophomore is an individual. Not new comers and not yet upper classmen, they constitute the middle part of Paduan life.

With quite a diversity of interests, potential, and talent, the class of '61 is well on its way to greater heights. Interests range from bees to model airplanes; their potential has been well exercised and developed in various sports; talented musicians keep the spirits high, the atmosphere pleasant and gay. Above all, their willingness to give a hand initiated various class projects. Since spring, the grounds were entirely in their care, and the campus joined the swing into spring with neat, well cut, and clean lawns, roads and sidewalks. Thanks to the Sophs, the three hole golf course became far more inviting, its fareways, roughs, and greens in neat trim.

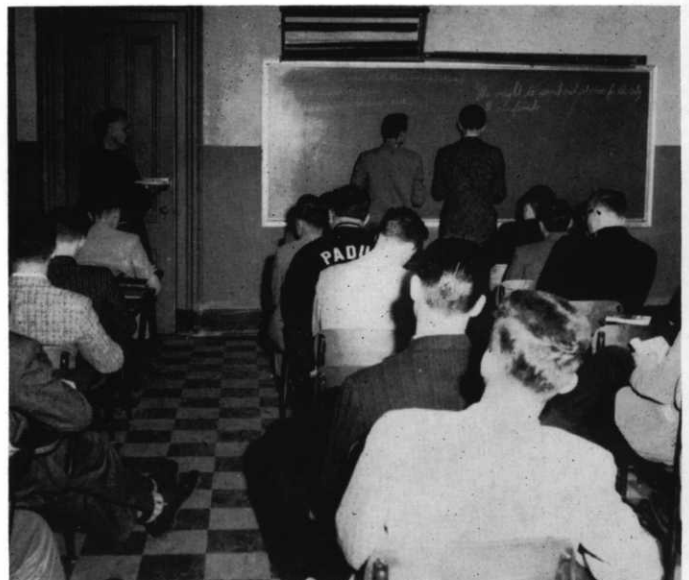

Fr. Austin Lewinski, ofm, their moderator and guide, has helped lead the class of 1961 through their "test" year. Their class motto ("Jesus I trust in Thee"), chosen wisely, is the key to successful years at Padua; their unity to bind them through those years.

Freshman Class

In the fall of the 1958-59 school year, thirty-five apprehensive Freshmen passed through the portals of Padua. Under the watchful eye of Fr. Xavier Wilk, ofm, the class of '62 slowly began to take their place in Padua's everyday life. Surviving the rigors of initiation, they officially became full-fledged Paduans.

At their first class meeting, the Frosh elected their first class officers and at subsequent meetings chose a class patron, St. Christopher; class colors, blue and white; a class flower, white carnation; and a class motto, 'Forward in Christian Faith . . .'

Diligently applying themselves to their studies, the Freshmen didn't forget extra-curricular activities. For many it was the first time they had ever played soccer or pushball. Aside from sports, they earnestly applied themselves to their class project, the restoration of the shrine to the Blessed Virgin near the friary monastery. In the fall, Freshman "volunteers" could frequently be seen raking leaves and tidying the campus grounds.

Captained by muscular Al Snopek, the Padua cheerleaders became renowned for their unique cheering style. Al Snopek, Jerry Giemza, Ken Joswick, and Joe Iacifoli constitute this versatile group. These boys attracted applause and praise no matter where they appeared. Everyone who watched them perform their tactics had to admire them and their ability to keep the fever of spirit running high. The Padua student body took great pride in these boys and their efforts to support Padua's school spirit.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

TONY ZEMBRZUSKI, 6' 2", a Junior from Bayonne, N. J., was the highest scorer on the squad this season. Aggressiveness was his big characteristic as he scored 196 pts. in 16 games. Tony, a consistent shooter, continuously hit in the double figure bracket.

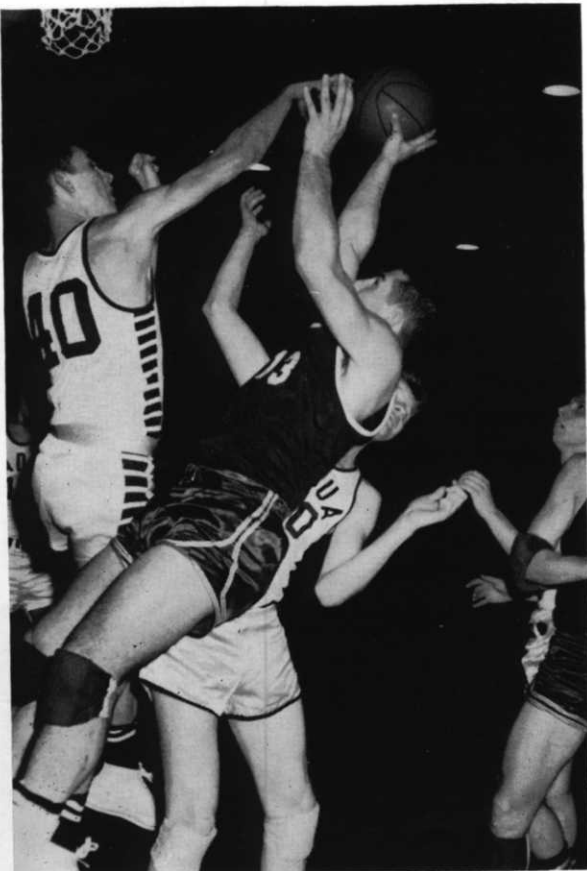

His size, coupled with his 180 lbs. gave the Prep some real power beneath the back-boards for rebounds and Tony was never adverse to using it to the team's advantage. He stands as another reason why Padua fans are looking ahead to next season with confidence of a real strong ball club.

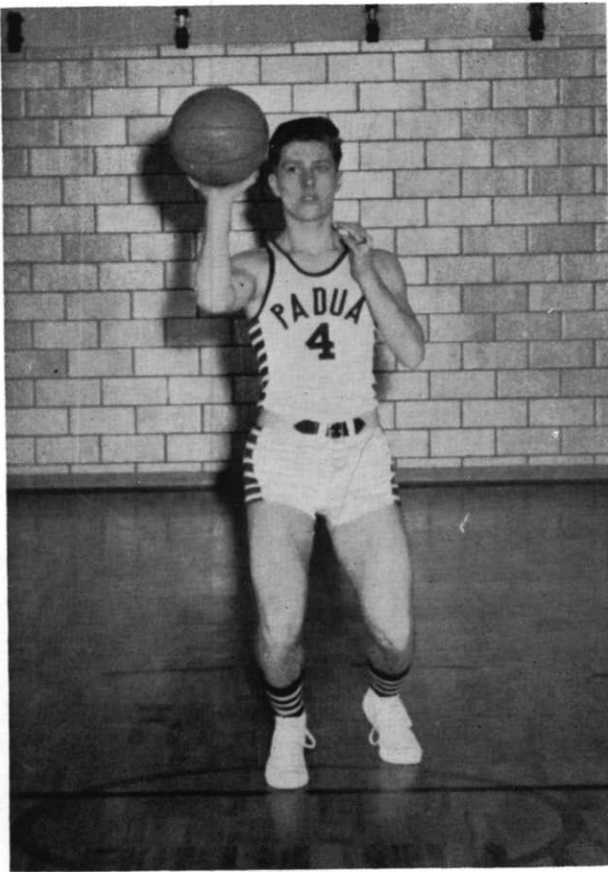

All for one and one for all

ROBERT BAHARA, 5' 10", 175 lbs., hails from Scranton, Pa. Frequently Bob drew the dubious honor of guarding the opponent's top scorer. His deft blind passing and his three quarter court passes that were frequently the fuel for Padua's driving style, quickly won him the respect of every opposing ball club. He also assumed the role of decoy and playmaker this season with the same competence that he earlier demonstrated as a scoring threat. This year he hit 162 pts. in 18 games, while setting his team mates up for more than an equal number of points.

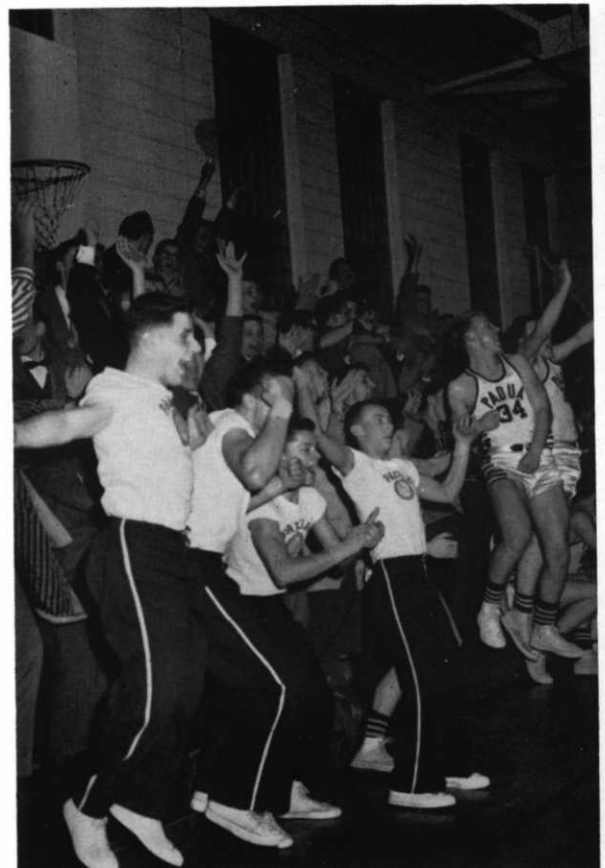

Marcheski with a good block

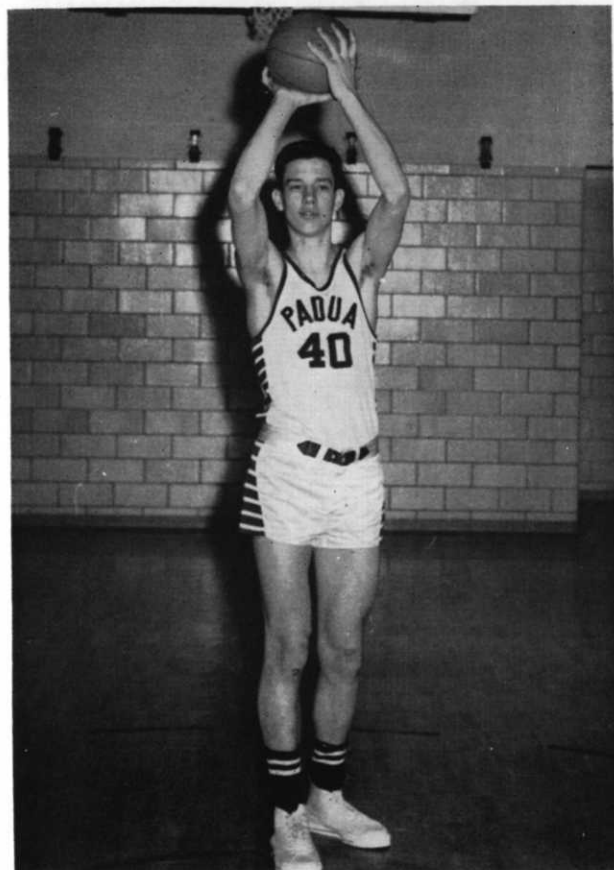

JOE FLIS, 5' 8" er, hails from Newark, N. J. Joe carries the honor of being the most-improved Varsity player of the year. A versatile ball handler and accurate shooter, Flis was many a time the main link that held the Prep squad together during her crucial moments of play.

An expert on working the "give-and-go" with Bahara, Joe hit the double-figures many times during the season. One of the chief holler guys on the Varsity squad, Joe is one of the ball hawkers on the club who turns frequent steals and pass interceptions into quick baskets on the fast breaks.

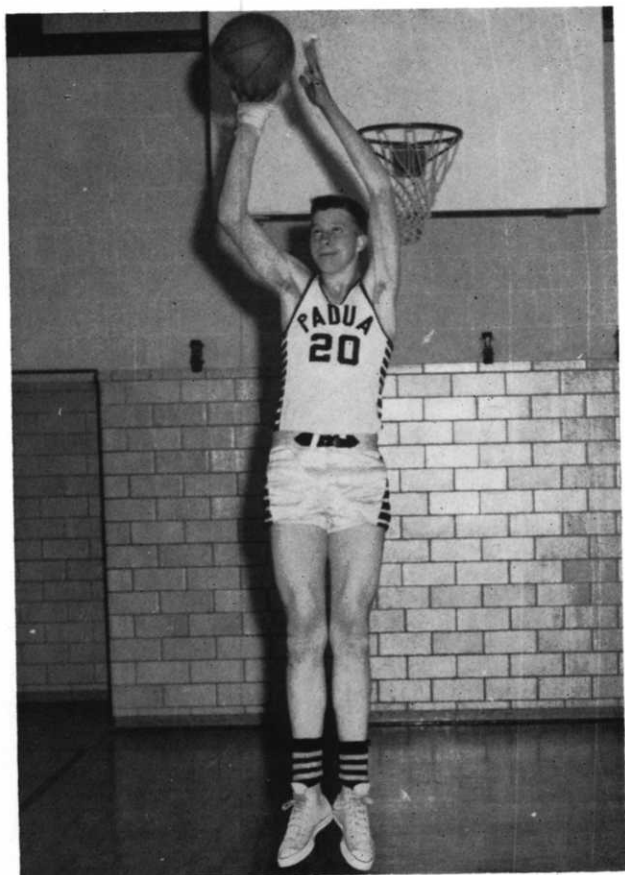

We're ahead

JOHN MARCHESKI, a 6' 3", 170 lb.'er comes from Pottstown, Pa. Jack, although the tallest player on the team, was hindered mainly by a lack of self-confidence. Marcheski, an excellent jumper, often "dunked" the ball through the basket, a feat which few are capable of performing. Only the individual players can place this self-confidence in Jack. If they succeed, Padua Prep will definitely be one of the strongest high school teams by far. Jack has demonstrated his defensive ability and has proven to his opponents that he is one to be reckoned with. Jack scored 109 points this season.

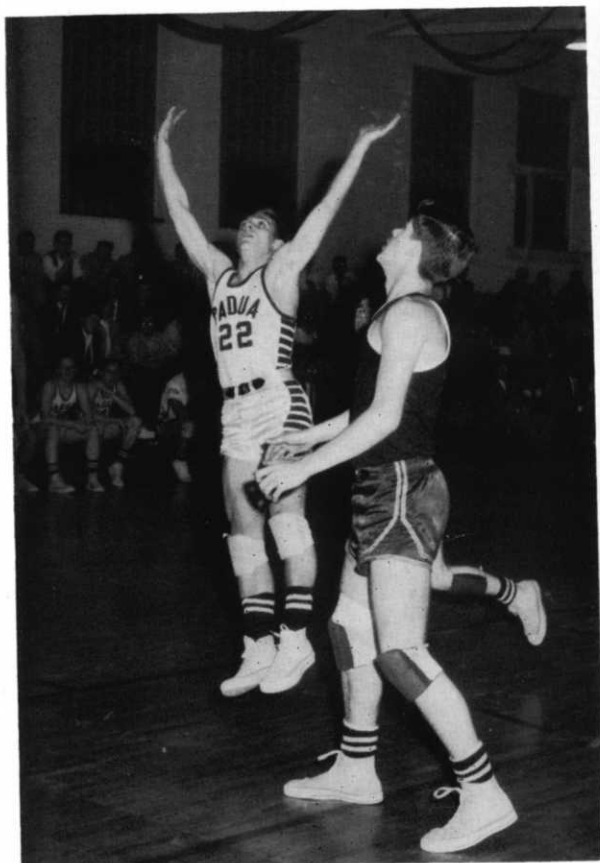

A graceful layup

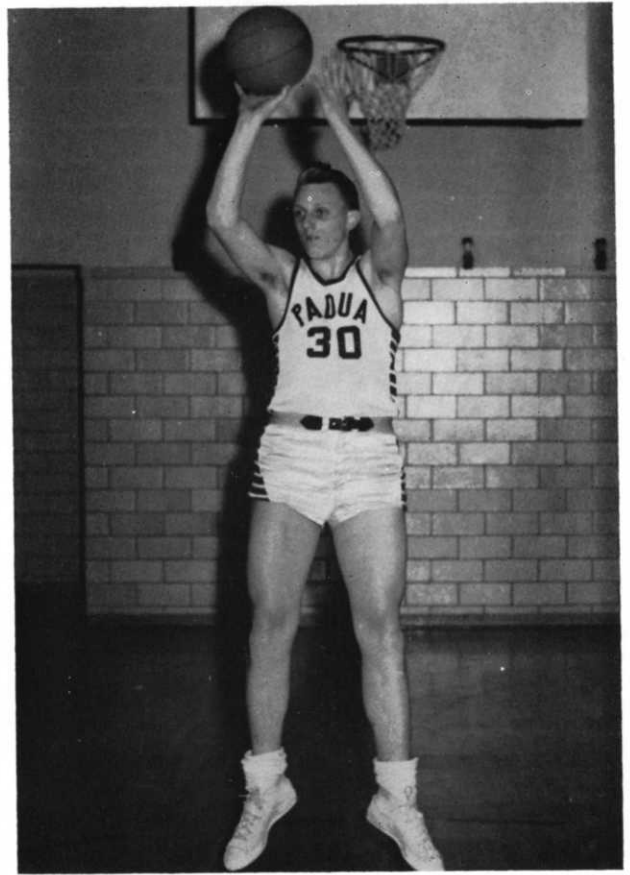

TONY TULKO, hailing from Brooklyn, N. Y., climaxed his high school basketball career as second highest scorer on the club with 171 pts. Tony, a 6' 2" 165 lb. Senior, also holds the foul shooting percentage crown for the 1958-59 season.

An outstanding rebounder for his size, Tulko led the big three back-board men and kept a certain amount of confidence in them with his mere presence on the court. The only Senior starter on the team this year, Tony has demonstrated his deadly jump shot and his top flight defensive ability.

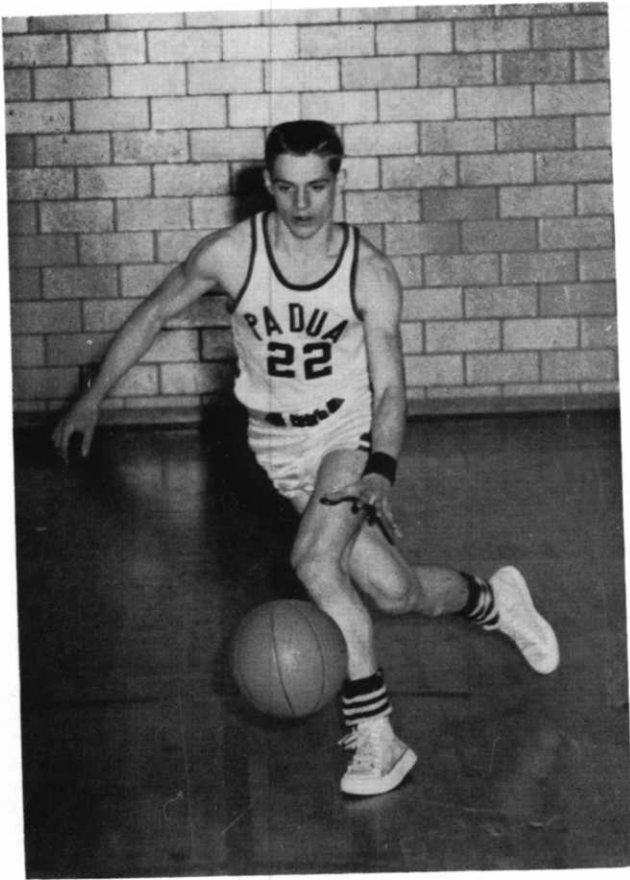

Those are hands Sowa, not wings

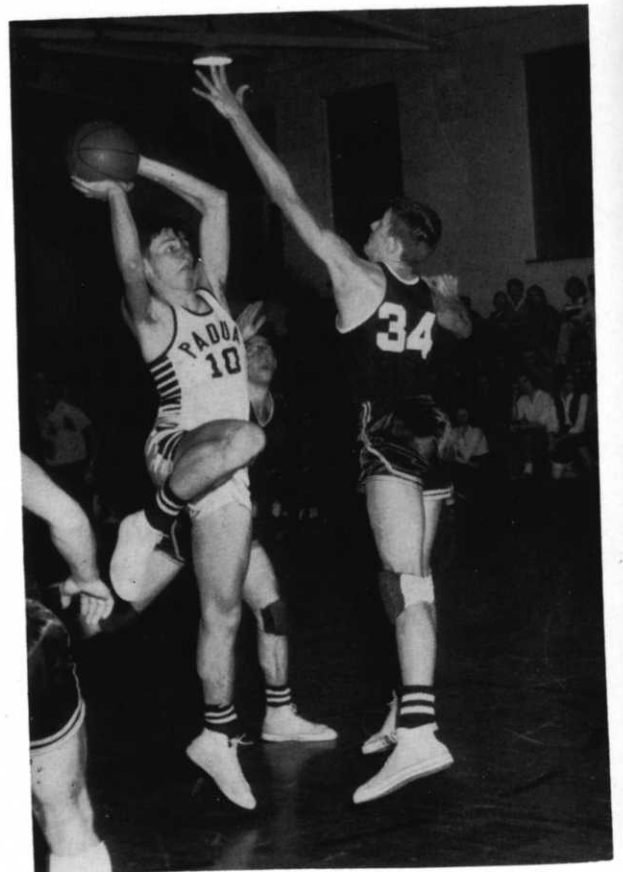

Zembrzski up for a nice push shot

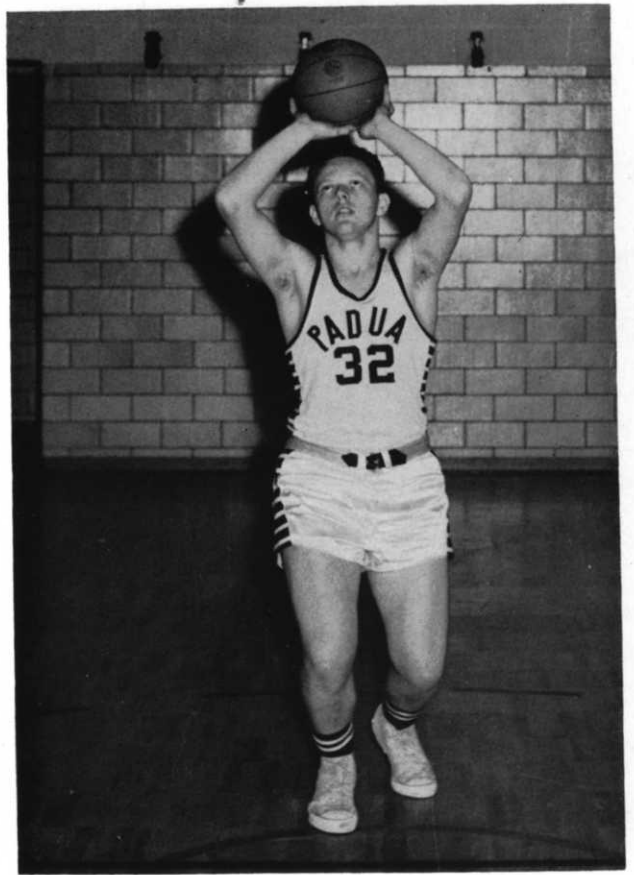

JOE POMASKI, 6' 1", 196 lb. Junior who comes from Brooklyn, N. Y. Joe did not meet up to early expectations, although he had a fair season. Pomaski has extreme accuracy on his jump shot from just outside the foul line, but he spent most of this season experimenting with long-range jump shooting. His attempts proved quite fruitless, except for the game against Ovid when he hit 22 pts. in 3 quarters. His scoring for the season was 123 pts.

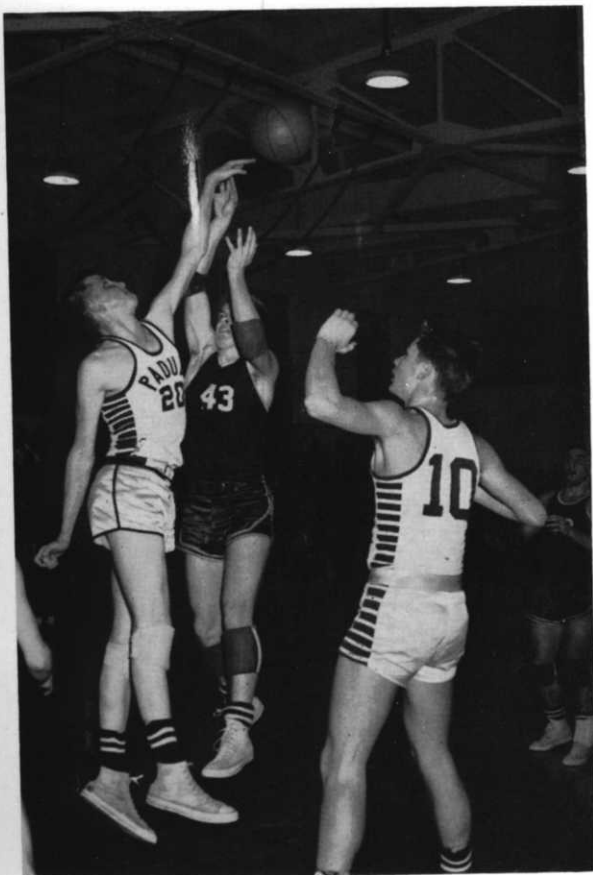

Last but not least is JOHNNY SOWA, 5' 6", 140 lbs., a Junior who comes from Brooklyn, N. Y. John, who was renowned for his "fake" while playing JV ball, suffered greatly this season from his lack of height. Sowa appeared unable to adapt himself to playing Varsity ball. Although he only scored 83 pts. this season, his fight and spirit were a constant aid to the club. John is a persistent ball hawk, who usually manages a few steals every game—and an equal number of intercepted passes.

GYMNASTICS TEAM

The Padua Gymnastic team has finally attained its claim to fame. The team, which originated last year, had its first taste of showmanship this year. The big break came when they were invited by Ithaca College to give an exhibition to the college students. The next "gust of luck" came when they were asked to put on a show at the Veterans' Administration in Bath, N. Y. Having gained some valuable experience with those two shows, they then went to Notre Dame H. S. in Elmira where they put on a terrific show. Al Snopek put on an outstanding performance, and was rewarded with a rousing ovation. The next performance on their schedule was the annual Mother's Day show held in the Padua Gymnasium. The last exhibition of the season was held in Watkins Glen for a benefit.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

An important event on the calendar of the history of St. Anthony's took place on February 18, 1959. On this day 31 outstanding students were enrolled in the National Honor Society.

As sponsor of the National Honor Society Fr. Bertrand Bluma, ofm explained the nature and purpose of the society. He said that the society is one of over 6000 chapters of the N.H.S., which gives recognition to outstanding students on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service and character. Its purpose is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to develop character in students of secondary schools. The members are supposed to develop and extend their abilities and influence others at Padua and wherever they are. He pointed out that this society is not purely honorary but that it also performs services to the school.

The first officers of the Padua chapter of the National Honor Society were elected by closed balloting. Joseph Flis was elected president; John A. Trela, vice president; Anthony Mangini, secretary; and John Sowa, treasurer. The official induction of the members took place on Sunday, May 11. The members were awarded their N.H.S. pins and a Charter was presented to the school to be hung in study hall.

SODALITY

Under the direction of Father Roland Jaskulski, ofm, the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary continued to strive toward its goal as set down by him when he became moderator a few years ago: "to prepare youths, who are not contemplating the religious life, for the lay apostolate and to develop Christian habits of thinking and acting."

In a series of monthly meetings held individually with each class, Father Roland gave important advice and the members discussed the various ways of attaining these goals. From selections read from the life of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the idea of turning to her in time of need kept the hearts and minds of the Sodality "Mary Conscious". The four officers of the Sodality were selected from each of the four classes.

The high-lite of the Sodalitists' activities was the procession, and coronation of the Blessed Virgin Mary by the Sodality's President, Frank Uss, on Mother's Day.

THIRD ORDER OFFICERS — l to r: T. Walczak, J. Janidlo, Fr. Dominick, J. Strychasz

THIRD ORDER

Assuming the duties of Father Maynard Kolodziej, ofm, Father Dominic Turajski, ofm, became the new moderator of the Third Order of Saint Francis.

Established by St. Francis as a layman's Order, its membership grew throughout the world. Here at Padua on October 3, the eve of the feast of St. Francis, fifteen new novices were accepted into the Third Order, and on October 4, those who completed their novitiate the year before became professed members.

Regular meetings were held each month. During these meetings Father Dominic stressed the rule of the order and its purposes. Invaluable advice on being a model of St. Francis aided in following the rule more closely. A strong Christian character as well as following the rule of St. Francis was maintained and practiced by the members of the Third Order.

Once again, this group proved itself to be an active society. They sponsored the yearly drive for clothing and useful items for the Philippine Missions, and also advocated the necessity of aiding the missions spiritually as well as materially.

Reception of the "Mission Cross"

MISSION BOUND

Fr. Terrence with Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Balcerak

In the past years, a few of our former professors — Father Leopold Niedzwiecki, ofm, Father George Dubowski, ofm, Father Flavian Nowotarski, ofm, and Father Humphrey Tobias, ofm — have all left for missionary posts in the Philippines. Once again another of our professors, Father Terrence Pinkowski, ofm, recently departed for the Philippines. These missionaries were not the first to do so nor will they be the last. Many more will follow in their footsteps.

Father Terrence spent seven years at Padua as a teacher of English. He hails from Nanticoke, Pa., where he received his parochial school education. After four years at the public high school in that city, he left for two years of college. He entered the Franciscan Novitiate at Pulasaki, Wisconsin, in 1941; he then went to Burlington, Wisconsin to study philosophy for three years. After leaving Burlington, he had two years of theological study at Cedar Lake, Ind., and two years at Green Bay, Wis., where he was ordained on June 11, 1949. After being assigned to Saginaw, Mich., and Toledo, Ohio, he was sent to Padua in February of 1951.

Father Terrence spent five years with us when his superiors gave him permission to attend St. Bonaventure University for one year, after which he received his Master of Arts degree in Literature. He then resumed his work as a teacher.

He leaves us now for the call of God is strong. He will long be remembered for his kindness and sincerity. He has loved us all and that is why we love him. May God prosper his labors. God love you Father Terrence.
