The Paduan Receives Warm Welcome In Village

Local Businessmen Generous In Their Support of New Venture

When Fr. Claude, the Principal of Padua High School suggested the idea of publishing a school paper, everybody, from the Fathers down to little Leon Trzaskawka was very enthusiastic about the whole thing. Everyone agreed that there is nothing in the world that could serve as a better channel of expression for the students than a good school paper. One and all, further agreed that it would be nice to have a regular, professional-looking, printed paper, rather than just a makeshift, bush-league mimeographed job.

So, Fr. Claude and Fr. Canisius went into a huddle, made inquiries about the cost of having a small four-page paper printed, and arrived at the conclusion that the only way to finance such an undertaking would be by soliciting advertisements from businessmen in the village.

Fr. Canisius explained the situation to the class and asked for volunteers to go "ad - Hunting." Michael Gill, Edward Lagonegro, John Dwyer and Charles Aug stepped forward and were forthwith

P. H. S. Has Seven Fathers On Faculty

Not many schools, no, not ever Cornell University can boast of having the same faculty to student proportion that we have here, a Padua High. With seven teachers on the staff, we have almost one professor or instructor for every four students.

The faculty is headed by Father Claude, who, besides being Principal and Rector, is also our Algebra Professor. Before his appointment as Principal of Padua, Fr. Claude taught at St. Bonaventure Minor Seminary and High School in Sturtevant, Wis., where he served also in the capacities of Athletic Director, Coach of the Junior Basketball Varsity, and Assistant Dean of Discipline.

Father George, the Assistant Principal, is also Registrar, Spiritual Director, and Professor of Social Studies. He too came here from St. Bona's in Sturtevant where he taught History, and acted as Spiritual Director to the students.

Another former member of the St. Bonaventure High School faculty who is now with us, is Fr. Henry, who teaches Polish. Fr. Henry is also the Guardian (Superior) of the Padua Friary

The fourth member of the Padua faculty is Father Canisius

Bishop Kearney Officiates At Solemn Pontifical Mass— Delivers Stirring Sermon

Banquet Concludes Festivities

This year, the feast of the Exaltation of the Cross, Sept. 14, had a special significance for the inhabitants of the Lake Seneca region. On this day, in a colorful ceremony, His Excellency, Bishop Kearney, Ordinary of the Rochester Diocese, officiated at the dedication of St. Anthony's Minor Seminary and Padua High School, newly-founded in Watkins Glen by the Order of Friars Minor.

After singing the, "Veni Creator," the elevation of the cross took place and the Bishop blessed the new High School.

Then followed the Solemn Pontifical High Mass, during which His Excellency was assisted by the Very Rev. Isidore Cwiklinski, O. F. M., Provincial of the Assumption Province and many other dignitaries.

Padua's Pioneer Class Elects Officers

On Wednesday, Oct. 7, the student body of Padua High School bound itself even more closely by holding a class meeting. The most important feature of the meeting was the election of class officers.

The following have been elected to shoulder the responsibilities of the activities of the Pioneer Class of Padua High School: Richard O'Connell, PRESIDENT; Conrad Szczeplanski, VICE - PRESIDENT; Joseph Malina, SECRETARY; Edward Lagonegro, TREASURER; Leo Rys and Michael Gill, SERGEANTS AT ARMS.

Stephen Keffe has been appointed Class Prefect.

The Athletic Club elected the following students as their officers: Charles Aug, PRESIDENT; Harold Nixon, VICE-PRESIDENT; Joseph Malina, SECRETARY; Richard Limoncelli, TREASURER.

our English Prof., Adviser of The Paduan, and Moderator of our Freshman (and only) class. Last year Fr. Canisius taught English and Religion at the Friars' school in Wisconsin.

Father Sylvester rounds out the quintet of St. Bona's gifts to Padua. As Dean of Discipline he has the job of making us remember that we are "gentlemen." With all his headaches (namely us) Fr. Sylvester still manages to find time to teach us Religion and Guidance.

The Padua teaching staff includes two newly-ordained priests, Fr. Emmanuel and Fr. Leopold both of whom recently finished their studies at St. Marv of the Angels Seminary, Green Bay, Wis. Fr. Emmanuel is the Vice-Disciplinarian and professor of General Science. Father Leopold, our Librarian, also teaches Latin and Library Science.

After Mass, the Bishop delivered a sermon in which he stated:

"This is not a ceremony that simply concerns the Catholic Church, the Franciscan Fathers and the students — it is more significant.

"The tabernacle of Christ coming here on the shores of Seneca Lake is going to bring here the presence of Christ. It will bring a blessing into the life of everyone in this whole community, irrespective of religious convictions."

Bishop Kearney felt that the feast of the Exaltation of the Cross was the ideal day for the dedication.

"The Cross signifies the presence of Christ through every nook and corner of this building," he said. "The philosophy of Jesus, the tenderness, the love of Christ for all men, the traditions of the Franciscan Fathers — all this and more may be deeply engraved into the hearts of everyone attending here.

"Whenever we hang the Cross in any institution or church it brings Christ closer to us. His presence in this building will exercise a benign and tender influence on the activities of the community."

The bishop welcomed the Friars into his diocese and concluded, "This institution has much to give to our country. Patriotism will be implanted deeply into its conscience. America need never fear for her future from the products of institutions like this."

Following the ceremonies attended by nearly 300 persons a dinner reception was held in the school's spacious dining hall. Among the speakers were: The Rev. Benedict Ehmman, pastor of St. Mary's, Watkins Glen; the Very Rev. Isidore Cwiklinski, O.F.M., Provincial; the Rev. Joseph

A RIDDLE

What is it? It is simple and yet it is sublime. It is so easy that a child can say it and yet it is so profound that the most learned theologian finds ample material in it for meditation. What is it? It's the ROSARY.

The Our Father, the Glory be and the Hail Mary are simple prayers. You cannot excuse yourself by telling your Heavenly Mother, "Mary, I can not pray the Rosary because I find the prayers too difficult to learn."

On the other hand, the Rosary contains the sublimest mysteries of your Faith. While reciting the Hail Marys, you are encouraged to meditate on the events of your Lord's life—His birth, His passion, His death, His victory and glorification. Your love for Him is increased. You try to imitate His virtues, His obedience and humility.

Through the Rosary, you learn to appreciate His Mother, Mary, and all she stands for. You love her more and more with each Hail Mary you say.

Certain proud individuals may ridicule the Rosary and call it a child's prayer. But God and His Mother love the humble and simple things.

When Mary appeared at Lourdes she had a Rosary in her hands. In the apparition at Fatima she asked that the whole world pray the Rosary in order that God may spare it from destruction.

You have no choice. If you wish to be loved by Jesus and His Mother—if you wish to do something great for this sinful world, you will begin to love the Rosary today.

The month of October has been dedicated to the Queen of the Holy Rosary. May the devotion you cultivate during this month toward the Rosary and your Heavenly Mother, be with you until your dying day.

LIBRARY CHATTER

The old Glen Springs may have been proud of the important persons who once came here as guests, but the students of Padua High School are no less proud of the ones who have come to take their place as permanent residents on the shelves of the new library. After much work, the finished product is a library of which all can be justly proud. In a separate wing, a visitor will find the main library, a reading room for both students and faculty, a special work-room, a faculty library and a librarian's office. All the woodwork is finished in natural birch. Sufficient lighting is provided for by a series of fluorescent lights. The whole plan is the work of Rev. Donald Bilinski, O.F.M., the chief librarian for the whole province of the Assumption. Father Donald, an alumnus of Chicago University, where he pursued a course in Library Science has effectively and efficiently put all his theory into practice and the finished product is a witness to his skill.

With the aid of such friends as Dr. Geiling, of the Department of Pharmacology at Chicago University, Dr. and Mrs. O'Connell of Ithaca, and the Provincial stock library, the staff has so far managed to procure 1,000 volumes that will soon be prepared for the use of the students and the faculty. Although this is far below the capacity of the library shelves—they were constructed to hold 11,000 volumes—it is sufficient for the beginning. Among the books all the standard reference works have been procured, as well as a variety of other books that will help the boys in their school work and aid them in spending their time profitably, and enjoyably.

At present the staff is busy preparing all the books for use on the shelves. The library is headed by Rev. Leopold Niedzwiecki, O.F.M. From the student body, Conrad Shepanski of Nanticoke, Pa. was chosen chief-librarian, and Joseph Malina, of Brooklyn, N. Y. as assistant to help Father with his work. These men, together with the rest of the student staff are doing a commendable piece of work—even giving up their free time—to help get the books out for use of all Padua.

SHOUTS AND WHISPERS

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Every student awaited the night of Oct. 26 with unholy uncertainty for that was the date set for the Hallowe'en party. Everyone expected to be initiated but none knew by whom or how.

The party began with a grand entry march. Dressed in their weird and comical costumes, the boys entered nervously the darkened recreation room. Fire crackers were set off, giving the students a loud welcome.

A short skit was then enacted by some of the boys. This was followed by a session of community singing in which the Fathers and Brothers sang along with the students. Fr. Canisius and Bro. Boniface put the audience into an intoxicating swoon with their solos.

Ducking for apples was the next feature on the program. The peanut rolling contest brought forth a roar of laughter. It was surprising to see what the boys accomplished with their noses.

A few more games followed and then fresh popcorn, cider, pop and candy were served.

Those, whose hair was not yet wet, were then ducked into a tub of water, and so everyone was christened and officially incorporated into the class.

BUS RIDES

The Finger Lakes region abounds in scenic waterfalls and State Parks. In order to enjoy these beautiful books of nature, the Paduans were given the opportunity to visit at least five of these scenic spots in their school bus.

STUDENT STORE

The school would be incomplete without a candy store. There the students may satisfy their craving for the sweeter things in life.

Under the able direction of Fr. Canisius, the student store, though in its infancy is making wonderful progress. He is constantly supplying it with new and better merchandise.

The spacious room which has been set aside for the store, has been painted and the floor received a "new look" by being covered with attractive tile.

The managers, Leon Rys and Joseph Malina have proved themselves capable of conducting the store. Due to their industry and spirit of sacrifice, the students are well pleased with the service they receive in the store.

These two young men also have charge of the religious articles.

BONFIRE

Since many of the boys did not go home for the Hallowe'en vacation, they decided to amuse themselves by having a colorful bonfire.

After the stories were told, the wrestling matches followed. The fire was extinguished about 8:30 p. m. and everyone, tired, returned to the safety of the school.

LIFE CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

Trella, Lynch, LaValley and Zygmontowicz have fallen in love with the game of Ping Pong. Every recreation period finds them in bitter competition. . . . The recreation room, recently finished, is the last word in comfort and beauty. About a dozen new large easy-chairs, two ping pong tables and a radio comprise the furniture. In popularity it almost equals its two stronger rivals, the chapel and the refectory (naturally) . . .

Our Prefect's little black book is probably filled with little red, blue and black check marks. Aren't we little devils? But crime really doesn't pay for Father seems to turn up just in time to catch us in the midst of a battle royal. Then, we are on the receiving end. . . . Little Leo Trzaskawka is going to be the typical Mr. Five-by-five if he continues to eat all the candy he receives from home. . . . The number of organists, who have the opportunity of playing for the 6 o'clock Mass, has risen to three. Cecci has been the latest addition to the Society of Ivory Ticklers. Colehan and Kulinski have welcomed him with open arms. . . . Schickel no longer calls the Cornell squad, "our team." He now reserves this cherished title for his football team here at Padua High. . . . ever since the World Series, Malina decided to shift his love from the Brooklyn Dodgers to one of the more dependable teams of Padua High. . . . Aug floored his classmates and the Professor, Fr. Sylvester, in speech class when he gave some sound advice on correct breathing. Chuck said that no one should dare to inhale within a radius of 30 yards of another person, and, under no condition should he exhale within a radius of 60 yards. . . . Trainor is getting tired of hearing Lewandowski talk in his sleep. He prefers to carry on a conversation before retiring, which, unfortunately is against the rules. . . . Sobek finally discovered who was shooting peas at him. Trella's peashooter, cleverly made from a fountain pen, has been confiscated and the students can walk around without the dread of being bumped off by an unseen enemy. . . . Dwyer has volunteered to teach the less experienced boys how to serve for Mass. As yet he does not demand a fee for his services for he fears that might be simony. . . . the chess series between Schmidt and Trainor is not any too exciting. Paul's father reached the semi-finals of a National chess tournament. Step up and take your beating! . . . "Beans" Grochowski has finally decided to put on another "T" shirt—the one he has been wearing for the last three months fell apart at the seams. . . . Trella's nickname for the Padua teams is very appropriate, he thinks they should be called the Padua Porch-climbers! He is attaining perfection in this accomplishment, he has not been caught at it for the last week!

Sixteen Students Received Into Third Order

On the evening of the Feast of St. Francis, Oct. 4, sixteen students of Padua High School were received into the Third Order of the Poor Man of Assisi. The Rev. Claude Zabinski, O.F.M., Rector of the school, conducted the reception ceremonies. He was assisted by Father George Dubowski, the Boys' Spiritual Director and Vice-Rector

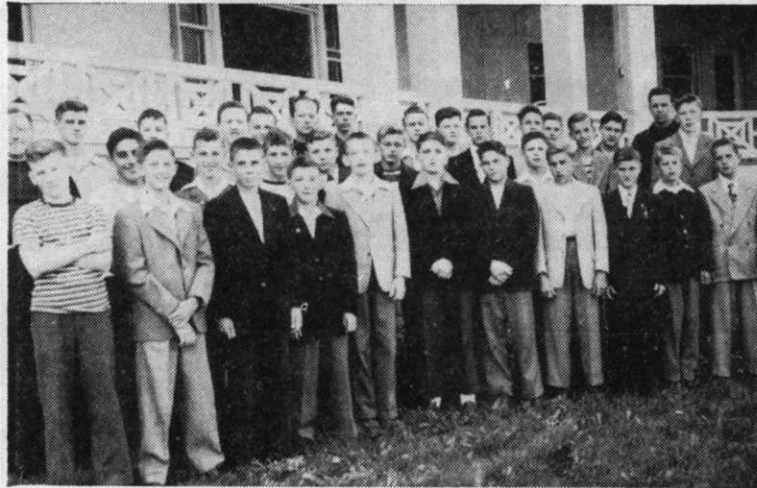

Father Claude briefly quizzed the candidates as to their knowledge of the duties, obligations and privileges of the evangelical life of The Third Order. He then delivered a sermon in which he stressed the importance of the Third Order of St. Francis in our present, chaotic world-wide conditions.

As his name was called, each boy proceeded to the altar. There he received a brown scapular, a cord and a lighted candle, thus becoming an actual member of the great Franciscan family.

Then followed the singing of the "Transitus," a service commemorating the passing or the death of St. Francis. Suitable psalms and antiphons were also chanted by the Fathers. The veneration of the relic of St. Francis concluded the impressive ceremony.

"The personality of St. Francis of Assisi fascinated and drew each boy's heart to him, and each expressed his intention of following in the Poverello's footsteps. However, many students were not of the age required for reception into the Third Order, hence they were forced to forego the privilege of becoming spiritual sons of the great saint. But they are awaiting the opportunity when they too will be enrolled in the great Order of St. Francis."

PADUA'S PIONEER CLASS

This is a picture of the first student body together with Fr. Claude, Fr. Sylvester, and Fr. George.

Intramural Sports

Foremost on the intramural sports calendar for P. H. S. was a volley-ball tournament. Every free-period was a time for the boys to go to the court and hit the ball over the net. On the longer afternoon free-periods groups would be chosen who would compete for the honor of being the champs of the court. Although no trophies were awarded, the boys enjoyed the wholesome exercise.

At present, the front lawn of the school is taking the place of a gridiron. Several teams have been formed and many hard-fought football contests are witnessed, with many future gridiron stars showing their prowess. Although it is only touch-football, the results show that there are many prospective stars of the gridiron in years to come.

Lakemont Trips P. H. S. In Soccer

In the first soccer meet, an experienced Lakemont Academy eleven drubbed a Padua H. S. "scrape-up" team, which knew very little about the game, by a score of 6-0.

In the first minute of the game, the speedy Lakemont players scored their first goal. The excitement caused the Paduans to foul a Lakemont player, who used his free kick to score another goal for the hosts.

The second quarter was an even gloomier one for the boys from Padua. Lakemont tallied on one free kick and two goals raising the score to 5-0 at the half.

Lakemont scored again in the third period, but at this point the Paduans seemed to revive. For the remainder of the contest no points were made and the game ended with a score of 6 to 0.

"King" Basketball Takes Over At Padua

The time is fast approaching when throughout the nation the hardwoods of the basketball court will take the spotlight away from the green turf of the gridiron. For the past three weeks the boys of Padua have been working out at the Watkins High gym under the direction of their athletic director, Fr. Emmanuel, and Coach, Chet Leskowitz.

The boys have been working hard every day in preparation for the first game. The "menu" for practice so far has consisted of left and right pivots, dummy scrimmages, dribbling and free-throw shooting.

At the present time, the best prospects to make the regular squad are: Charles Aug, Donald Corby, Harold Nixon, Edward Lagonegro, John Dwyer, Edward Lavalley, Joseph Malina, Richard O'Connell, George Sobek and Leo Rys.

As this issue goes to press, a tentative schedule of games has been presented by the Rev. Director of Athletics. The boys will play in the Neighborhood House High School Basketball League of Elmira. The league consists of teams from Elmira Free Academy, Elmira Heights, Elmira Catholic High School, as well as these Elmira parish teams: St. Casimir's, St. Peter's, St. Anthony's, Our Lady of Lourdes, St. John's, and three Corning parish teams: St. Mary's, St. Vincent's and St. Patrick's. Local games will be played with Lakemont Academy and Bradford High School.

Thanks to the kind generosity of the principal of Watkins High, Prof. Warren E. Hertenstein, the boys were permitted to use the local gymnasium for their basketball practice. When the season gets underway, all the Padua home games will be played at the St. John's Seminary gym in Montour Falls.

DEDICATION

A. Balcerak, Rochester; Mayor Allan D. Erway of Watkins Glen, and Bishop Kearney. The Rev. Albert L. Simonetti, of Elmira acted as toastmaster.

Father Ehmann stated in his talk, "Our task is to hoist the Cross over the world and in the hearts of men."

The Very Rev. Isidore Cwiklinski gave a brief summary of the steps taken in establishing the school. For four years, he had sought in vain for a suitable place to establish a seminary in the east. On that day God finally heard his prayers and granted him the privilege of seeing his efforts rewarded. "This is the day the Lord hath made, let there be happiness and rejoicing therein" he said. "Our efforts have been most fruitful."

Mr. William M. Leffingwell of Washington, D. C., former president of the Glen Springs Hotel was among the distinguished guests who were present at the festivities.

Mayor Erway welcomed the Franciscan Fathers to the village of Watkins Glen.

As a perpetual reminder of the school's purpose and spirit, a six-foot blue neon cross shines nightly atop the Golden Dome on the former Glens Springs Resort.
